What we've been learning:

In Religion we learned about Noah's Ark. The water meant a new start for God's creation and creatures. The water at our baptism gives us a new beginning as we are born into God's family.

In math we solved frames and arrows problems. We're reviewing basic facts. It's a good time to pull out those flashcards and work on speed.

In writing we worked on revising stories by choosing more interesting words and by adding details.

In reading we are learning to predict by thinking of three things that might happen in the rest of a book or to predict by asking questions. For instance in the book Good Grief, Third Grade we're wondering whether Roger and Marsha will ever get along? Will Marsha and Roger work together on their project? Does Roger like Marsha, or not?

In Science we're learning about whales. Check out whale lengths along the playground fence. We experimented to see how blubber keeps whales warm. We enjoyed several whale videos and books from the Northwest Regional ESD Department.

We had a fun art lesson with Mrs. Dutro—drawing ourselves jumping off the play structure—from an ants perspective.
