Learning Highlights from this Week

Dear Parents,

I hope to see you all this evening for Back to School Night with Aaron Meyer. All of the classes will be singing their original song and Aaron will be performing also. It's also a great opportunity to see what we've been learning.

In Christ, Mrs. Rickman

Christian Studies: Our first study is the Word of God itself and how it applies to our life.

Math: This unit in math will focus on estimating skills, and operations with whole numbers and decimals.

Reading: Students continue independently reading and started writing their letters to me in their journal about what they're reading.

Writing: Students have been progressing in their work, bringing a writing piece to a final draft stage.

Science: We began our unit study on Ecosystems and will be taking our field trip next week as a part of this study.

STAR OF THE WEEK

Our Star of the Week is Isaac Graham. Isaac is new to our school this year and is a great addition to our class. Isaac is really into Legos, even part of a Lego club. He also collects quarters, souvenir pennies and has other interests like James Bond and skiing. We welcome Isaac to our class.
