This Week's News

PICTURES NEEDED

Pictures are needed for 8th graders for a variety of different things. First, if you have not brought in a baby picture yet for the yearbook, that needs to be done ASAP. Second, if you have not given pictures to Mrs. Waibel yet for the Auction Project book, that needs to be done soon as well. Third, it is about time to start bringing in pictures for the 8th Grade Power Point that will be shown at Graduation.

Subject Update—Literature

Next Wednesday will be our test on The Merchant of Venice. We will finish reading it today. Along with this comes some project due dates as well. A character summary for the characters of the play is due the day of the test. Also, the projects for The Merchant of Venice are due the Monday after Spring Break. Last, the Thursday after Spring Break the 3rd quarter book report is due. So there are a lot of projects due in the next couple weeks.

Overdue Library Books

A number of 8th graders were told about some overdue library books last week. If these are not in by Spring Break, a fine will be charged. Ask your child if they were one that had any.

Wizard of Oz Update

This Monday the cast was posted for our play and scripts were handed out this week. Rehearsals will be light until after Spring Break. Then, they will be a little more frequent. A schedule of rehearsals will be coming home soon.
